

SHIFTING CERAMICS - Abigail Wheeler

Inspired by the geological patterns in the Matka Canyon area outside of Skopje, Macedonia, these ceramics are experimentations with stoneware. Layers of different colored stoneware were wrapped around one another, then sliced through and rolled out to warp the clay stripes. The resulting dishes are meant to imitate the limestone layers present in the Matka Canyon mountains and to be used while eating small Macedonian delicacies.